Dear Henry Viscardi School Families,

We hope this letter finds you healthy and safe. I am extremely pleased with our transition to remote learning during our school closure and want to thank our staff for their dedication and hard work, and for the patience and assistance of our families during this unprecedented time.

The goal of our remote learning plan is to engage students and maintain the teaching/learning process during this current absence from school. Please understand this is a learning curve for all of us and we will continue to adjust areas that need further development. I have full confidence in our teachers and related service providers and trust their professional judgement in how they are assigning work and providing feedback. Try to do your best to not be overwhelmed and know the HVS staff is here for you!

I remain in regular contact with the State and County Health Departments, the State Education Department and with members our Board of Education to make the best decisions for the Henry Viscardi School community as this situation evolves.

This is a challenging moment in all our lives. We look forward to continuing our partnership with you, and your feedback and suggestions are appreciated as it informs our planning. Above all, let your children know we are thinking of them and we miss them very much!

Sincerely,

Angelo Zegarelli
Head of School
